Scottish Co-production Network

It's Co-Production Week!

Co-production
Week Scotland
27th Nov - 3rd Dec 2017
#CoProWeekScot

Some lessons from the network

1. Commitment is all

“We need longer term investment”

“We need a longer term vision”

“it takes time – not too short, not too long”

2. Capacity building

“Otherwise we are still doing things to them and not with them”.

3. We must be willing to share power

“If you want me to step up, you need to step down”.

“Hand power over to communities, before you decide what to do.”

“Relationships need to change, including the relationship between ‘the top’ and both the 3rd sector and people with lived experience.”

“The public sector should be reminded that it’s power flows from citizens.”

4. Let's risk it

“We have to be comfortable with uncertainty and take risks.”

“Don't be scared of the unknown; it's truly co-production if no prior outcomes are set.”

5. Strong leadership is needed

Network members - need to feel supported to co-produce by having permission to take risks and invest in the process.

Community members - must be confident that there is a long term commitment to co-produce – otherwise why should they bother?

PEOPLE SEE PARTIAL
AS 'STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE'

My vision for Co-production in Scotland....

Scotland's children grow up just taking it for granted that their views count as much as anyone's!
